Mid-Year Introductions

Including the 2012 Spring Preview Collection

★ Christopher Radko® ★

Dear Friends,

It's with enormous pride and great pleasure that we present to you our Mid-Year Introduction catalogue, featuring more than forty brand-new, fine European Glass ornaments designed to complement our very special 2011 collection and provide a glimpse into all the wonderful things to come in 2012.

Inside these pages, you'll find Santas both traditional and whimsical, snowmen enjoying a superb frost (and one looking for some high seas adventure!), odes to the great states of Minnesota and New York, an assortment of dazzling Easter eggs, beautifully-designed commemorative ornaments for weddings and engagements, and, as always, special keepsakes created just for the little ones in your life.

Golden Glow and Heartfelt Offering, two classic Radko Santas, showcase the rich tones and time-honored splendor that have become the hallmarks of all Christopher Radko creations over the years. Birds of a Feather and Ho, Ho, Haulin' focus on the lighter side of the holidays; they both feature Santa having a little fun as he works his way through the season. Somewhere in the middle lie the four pieces that make up our Summer Garden collection. Apple of My Eye, A Beautiful Bunch, Fresh from the Vine, and Sweet Tart were inspired by the grace and glimmer of vintage Radko fruit ornaments, then given a thoroughly modern update when it came to size and color.

Our Mid-Year Limited Edition ornament, Starlit Centerpiece, captures Santa mid-flourish, mere moments before he completes his masterpiece—this year, it's a statuesque beauty that boasts flickering candles, shimmering drops, radiant stars, and miles of golden garland. Production of Starlit Centerpiece will be limited to orders received by August 1; please don't miss this very special opportunity to offer such a brilliant heirloom to your customers.

One additional introduction that I should note is Declan, a feisty leprechaun fresh from the hills of the Emerald Isle—we're so pleased with his first showing that we plan to make him a recurring character, much like Bruce the Moose, Maxwell Mouse, and Chappy O'Snow. All items in this catalogue will ship to retailers this fall for the 2011 holiday buying season.

Christopher Radko ornaments are produced by a seasoned team of European artists and craftsmen, many of whom have been with the company since the very first days in the original factory. Each design is crafted by hand, using centuries-old carving, molding, glass blowing, silver lining, hand painting and finishing processes that require significant time and skill to complete. The resulting exquisite workmanship and unparalleled detail are what set Christopher Radko apart—there is personal pride poured into every ornament.

As always, it's our honor to work with you as we continue to build the Christopher Radko brand; we're committed to your satisfaction and inspired by your enduring dedication and support. We're looking forward to the coming holiday season and hope to see you soon!

With warm wishes,

Heather Shepardson

Christopher Radko Presents

SHINY BRITE™

Created just before World War II with help from a machine originally designed to produce light bulbs, Shiny-Brite™ Glass Christmas Tree Ornaments have from the very beginning been a symbol of everything that makes America great: ingenuity and innovation, resilience and adaptability. The brand's first signature round ornaments, made from beautifully colored glass and painted with distinctive pastel stripes, were affordable beacons of hope, treated as treasures year after year.

By the 1950s, the original collection had been expanded upon to include vibrantly-colored icicles, pinecones, bells and lanterns.

These new shapes and festive hues were enormous hits, quickly making Shiny-Brite the most popular ornament brand in the country. Families in small towns and big cities proudly displayed their collections, delighted to share Shiny-Brite's sentimental beauty with friends and neighbors.

Shiny-Brite today is about faithfully recreating the joy and style of a mid-century American Christmas. True to the original design, each piece is created using shapes, palettes and motifs derived from antique ornaments we've carefully preserved. Turn back the clock and celebrate Christmas—American Style.
